The first of those leaders to arrive in Brisbane was Jacob Zuma of South Africa who flew into Brisbane airport with his entourage early this morning where he was met by the Premier of Queensland Campbell Newman, at a special G20 terminal at the airport. The other leaders will fly in to Brisbane on Thursday and Friday. US President Barack Obama is scheduled to fly into Amberley RAAF Base to the west of Brisbane in the early hours of Saturday morning. Most of them will be accommodated in hotels in the Brisbane CBD, each of which will be a high security area. See the attached “Red Zone” map. King Abdullah of Saudi Arabia and his entourage will be accommodated at Sanctuary Cove on the Gold Coast south of Brisbane.
The G20 Leaders Summit will be held in the award-winning Brisbane Convention & Exhibition Centre in South Bank. See the G20 Red Zone Map.

Preparations for the G20 have been underway for two years. Special laws have been passed regarding extra police powers and security arrangements. Some 30 odd protest organisations have registered their protest plans with the Queensland Police Service (QPS). Half of those protests are planned for Saturday 15 November. Based on the previous experience of violent, destructive protests at the Toronto, Canada, G20 in 2010, great emphasis has been placed on planning and preparing for the security and protection of the public and community over the last two years.

6,000 police, including members of both inter-state and New Zealand police forces will be on duty. About 1,000 members of the Australian Defence Force including counter-terrorist troops and Blackhawk helicopters are involved in G20 security. RAAF Hornet fighter jets will be airborne throughout the Summit etc etc.

The QPS is hoping for peaceful protests but are prepared for violent events. They are prepared to arrest hundreds of protesters and process them through 24 hour magistrate courts via video link.

There are other prayer networks praying for the G20 leaders and their staffs and the outcome of the Leaders’ Summit.

The Lord is calling on us as a network to pray in agreement for wisdom and revelation for those in authority in regard to the security and protection of the G20 and the public, and to claim the promises of Psalm 91 over them. Please commence that prayer when you receive this email and continue it through until Monday night 17 November.
